continuing obligations. Together with his team, he thereby increased the recovery rate to 100%.

Dividends were distributed to all creditors back in December 2019. The remaining proceeds were paid out to the owner of the company in recent days. This is not an outcome that is seen very often.

It was not possible to find an investor during the proceedings, as there were no interested parties for the IT company. The app developer was dependent on only a few customers and sales kept declining. Furthermore, the software company would have had to invest a great deal of money to ensure compliance with the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), which came into force on 25 May 2018. The insolvency administrator therefore had to cease operations on June 2018. The ten employees, mainly highly qualified programmers, quickly found other employment as their skills were in demand on the labour market.
