Xavier Garcia Esteve is the new manager of PLUTA's branch offices in Spain

20 November 2021 · Madrid

Xavier Garcia Esteve is the new manager of PLUTA's branch offices in Spain. The attorney and business management expert has more than 20 years of expertise in insolvency administration and corporate restructuring. He is regularly appointed insolvency administrator by Spanish courts, especially in Madrid and Barcelona. Previously, the Spanish qualified attorney (abogado) worked in an international business law firm and as an insolvency administrator, in addition to having worked for several years in the risk department of a bank.

Mr Xavier Garcia Esteve studied law at the University of Barcelona and holds two Master's degrees, one in Corporate Finance and another in Financial Management. He is 45 years old, speaks Spanish, Catalan, English and French and is a member of different national and international associations such as the Barcelona Bar Association, INSOL Europe and INSOL International.

The new branch manager said, "I am strongly interested in the complex interlinking between business and law and the restructuring of crisis-stricken companies. PLUTA has an excellent reputation. I look forward to working for this company with the local team here in Spain." A total of eight persons now work in the Madrid and Barcelona offices: six
